

NYC RESTAURANT INSPECTIONS

An Analysis of Critical Health Violations (2016–2026)

Done by Fajer Mubarak

PROBLEM STATEMENT

Between 2016 and 2026, DOHMH inspection records show that 52% of NYC restaurant inspections result in at least one Critical Violation, posing a risk to public health. It remains unclear which violations, cuisines, or time periods drive this risk most.

Understanding these patterns helps DOHMH prioritize inspection resources more effectively.

OVERVIEW OF NYC DOHMH INSPECTION SYSTEM

1. Role of NYC DOHMH

- NYC DOHMH : New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene
-
- Conducts strict, unannounced restaurant field inspections.
- Enforces sanitary codes to prevent foodborne illnesses.

2. Grading System

- Observed failures are converted into penalty points
(Lower = Cleaner)
Grade A: 0 – 13 pts
Grade B: 14 – 27 pts
Grade C: 28+ pts

3. Violation Scoring

- Critical: Immediate health risks (e.g., pests, wrong temperature) Higher points.
- Non-Critical: Minor sanitary issues (e.g., dirty floors) Lower points.

OBJECTIVES

- Top 10 Most Common Health Violations
- Inspection Scores: Critical vs Non-Critical
- Critical Violations by Borough
- Critical vs. Non-Critical Violations by Cuisine
- Critical Violation Trend (2017–2025)
- Critical Violations by Month
- Top 10 Brands: Score Change (2022–2025)

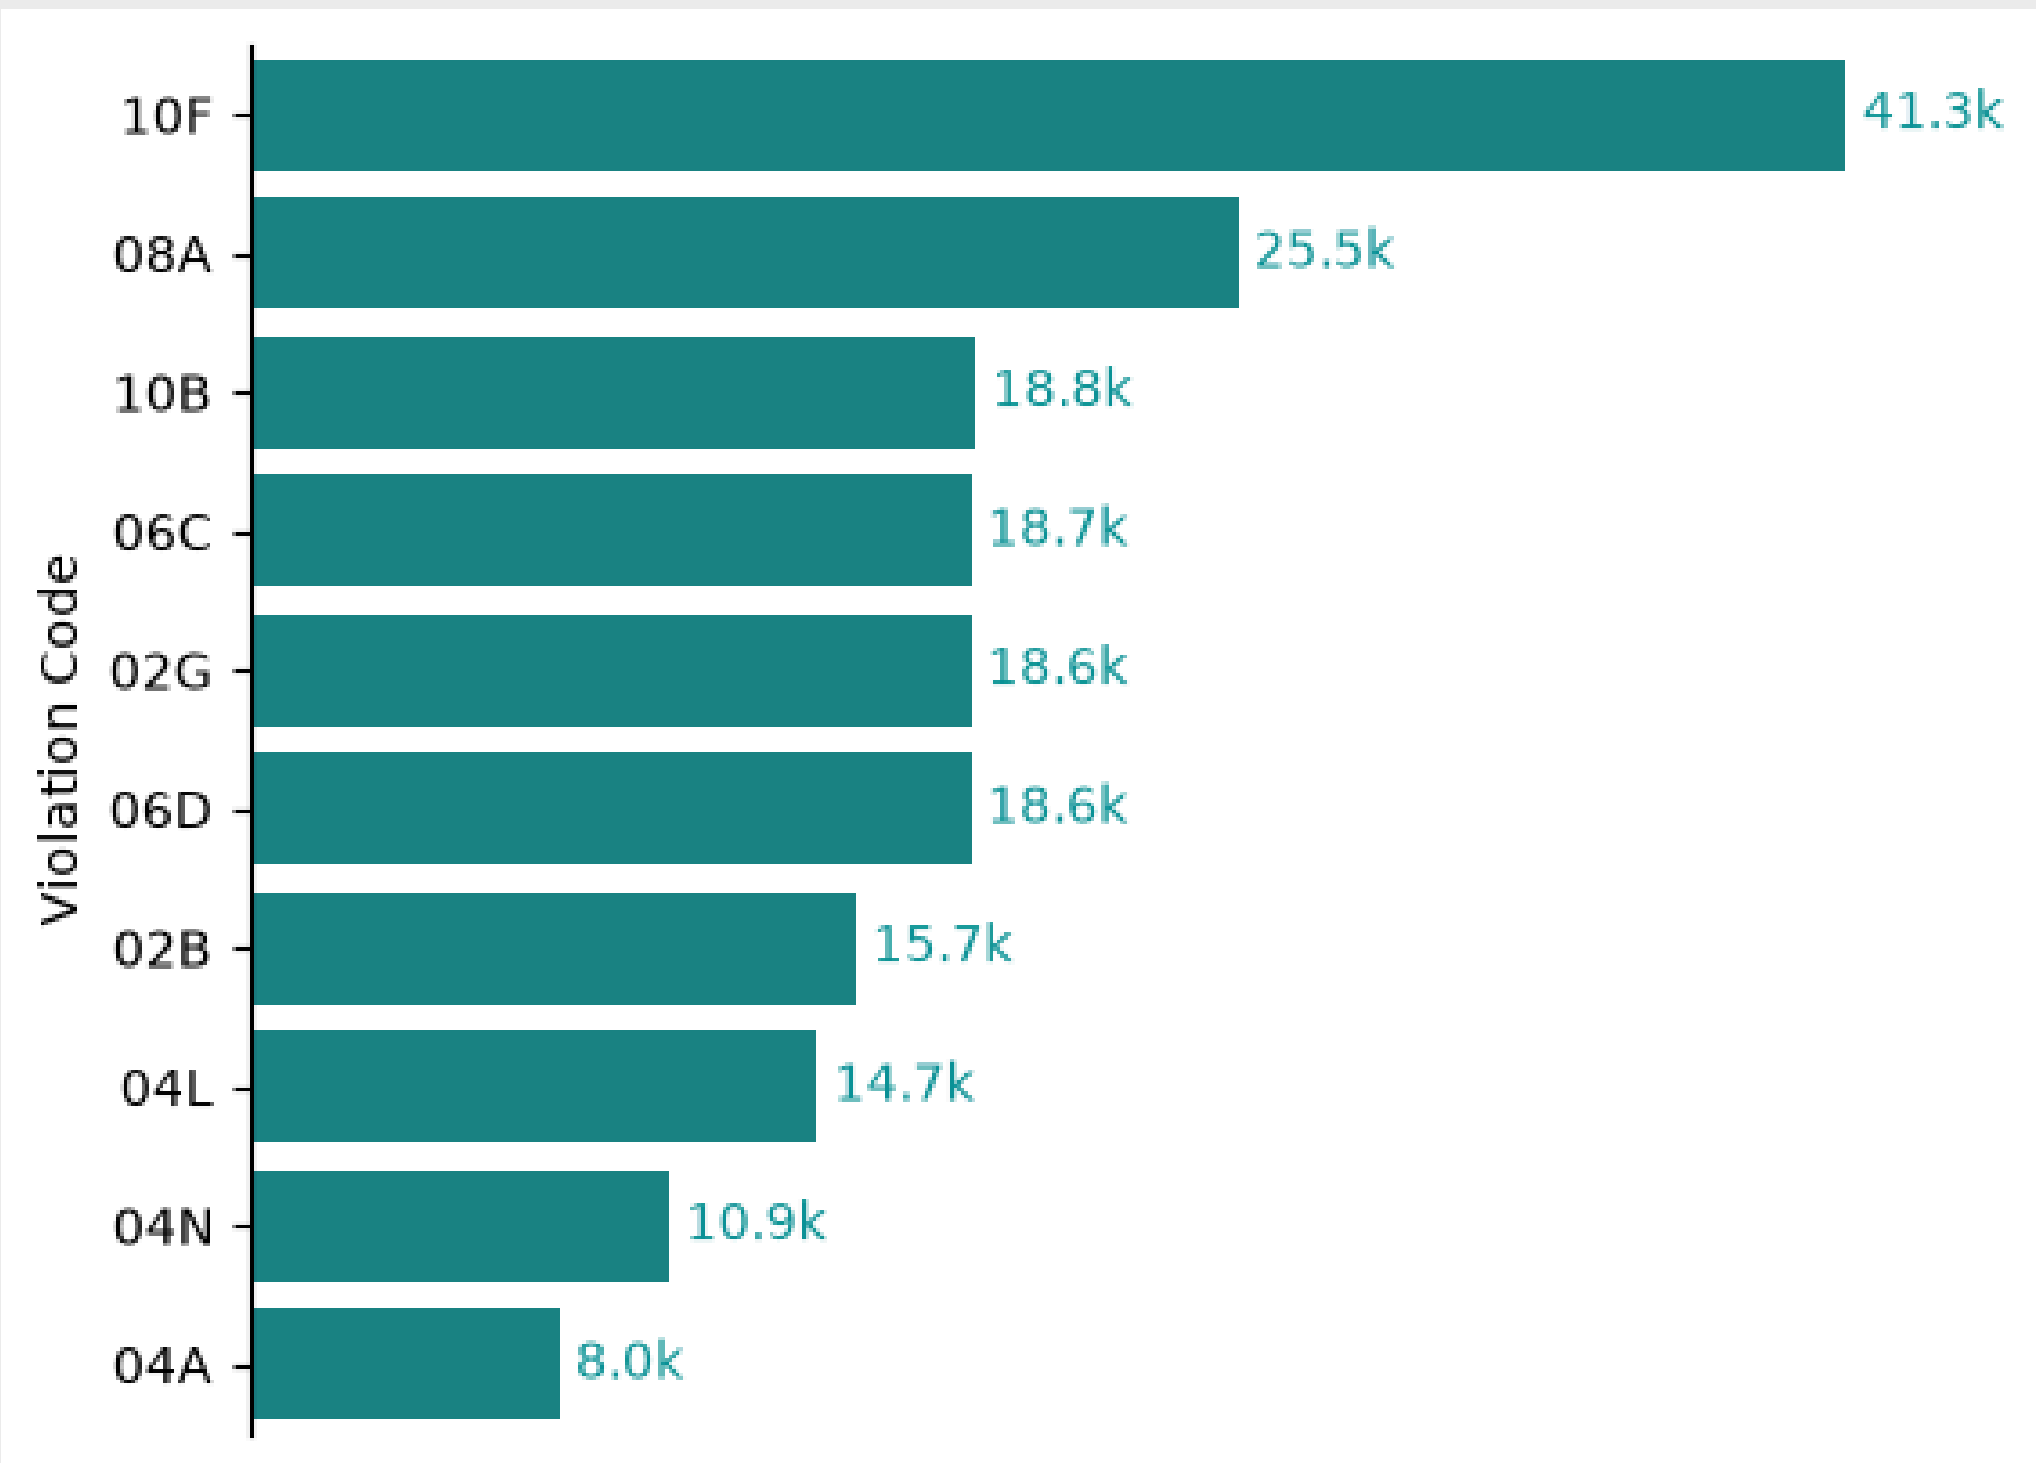

DISTRIBUTION OF TOP 10 MOST COMMON HEALTH VIOLATIONS

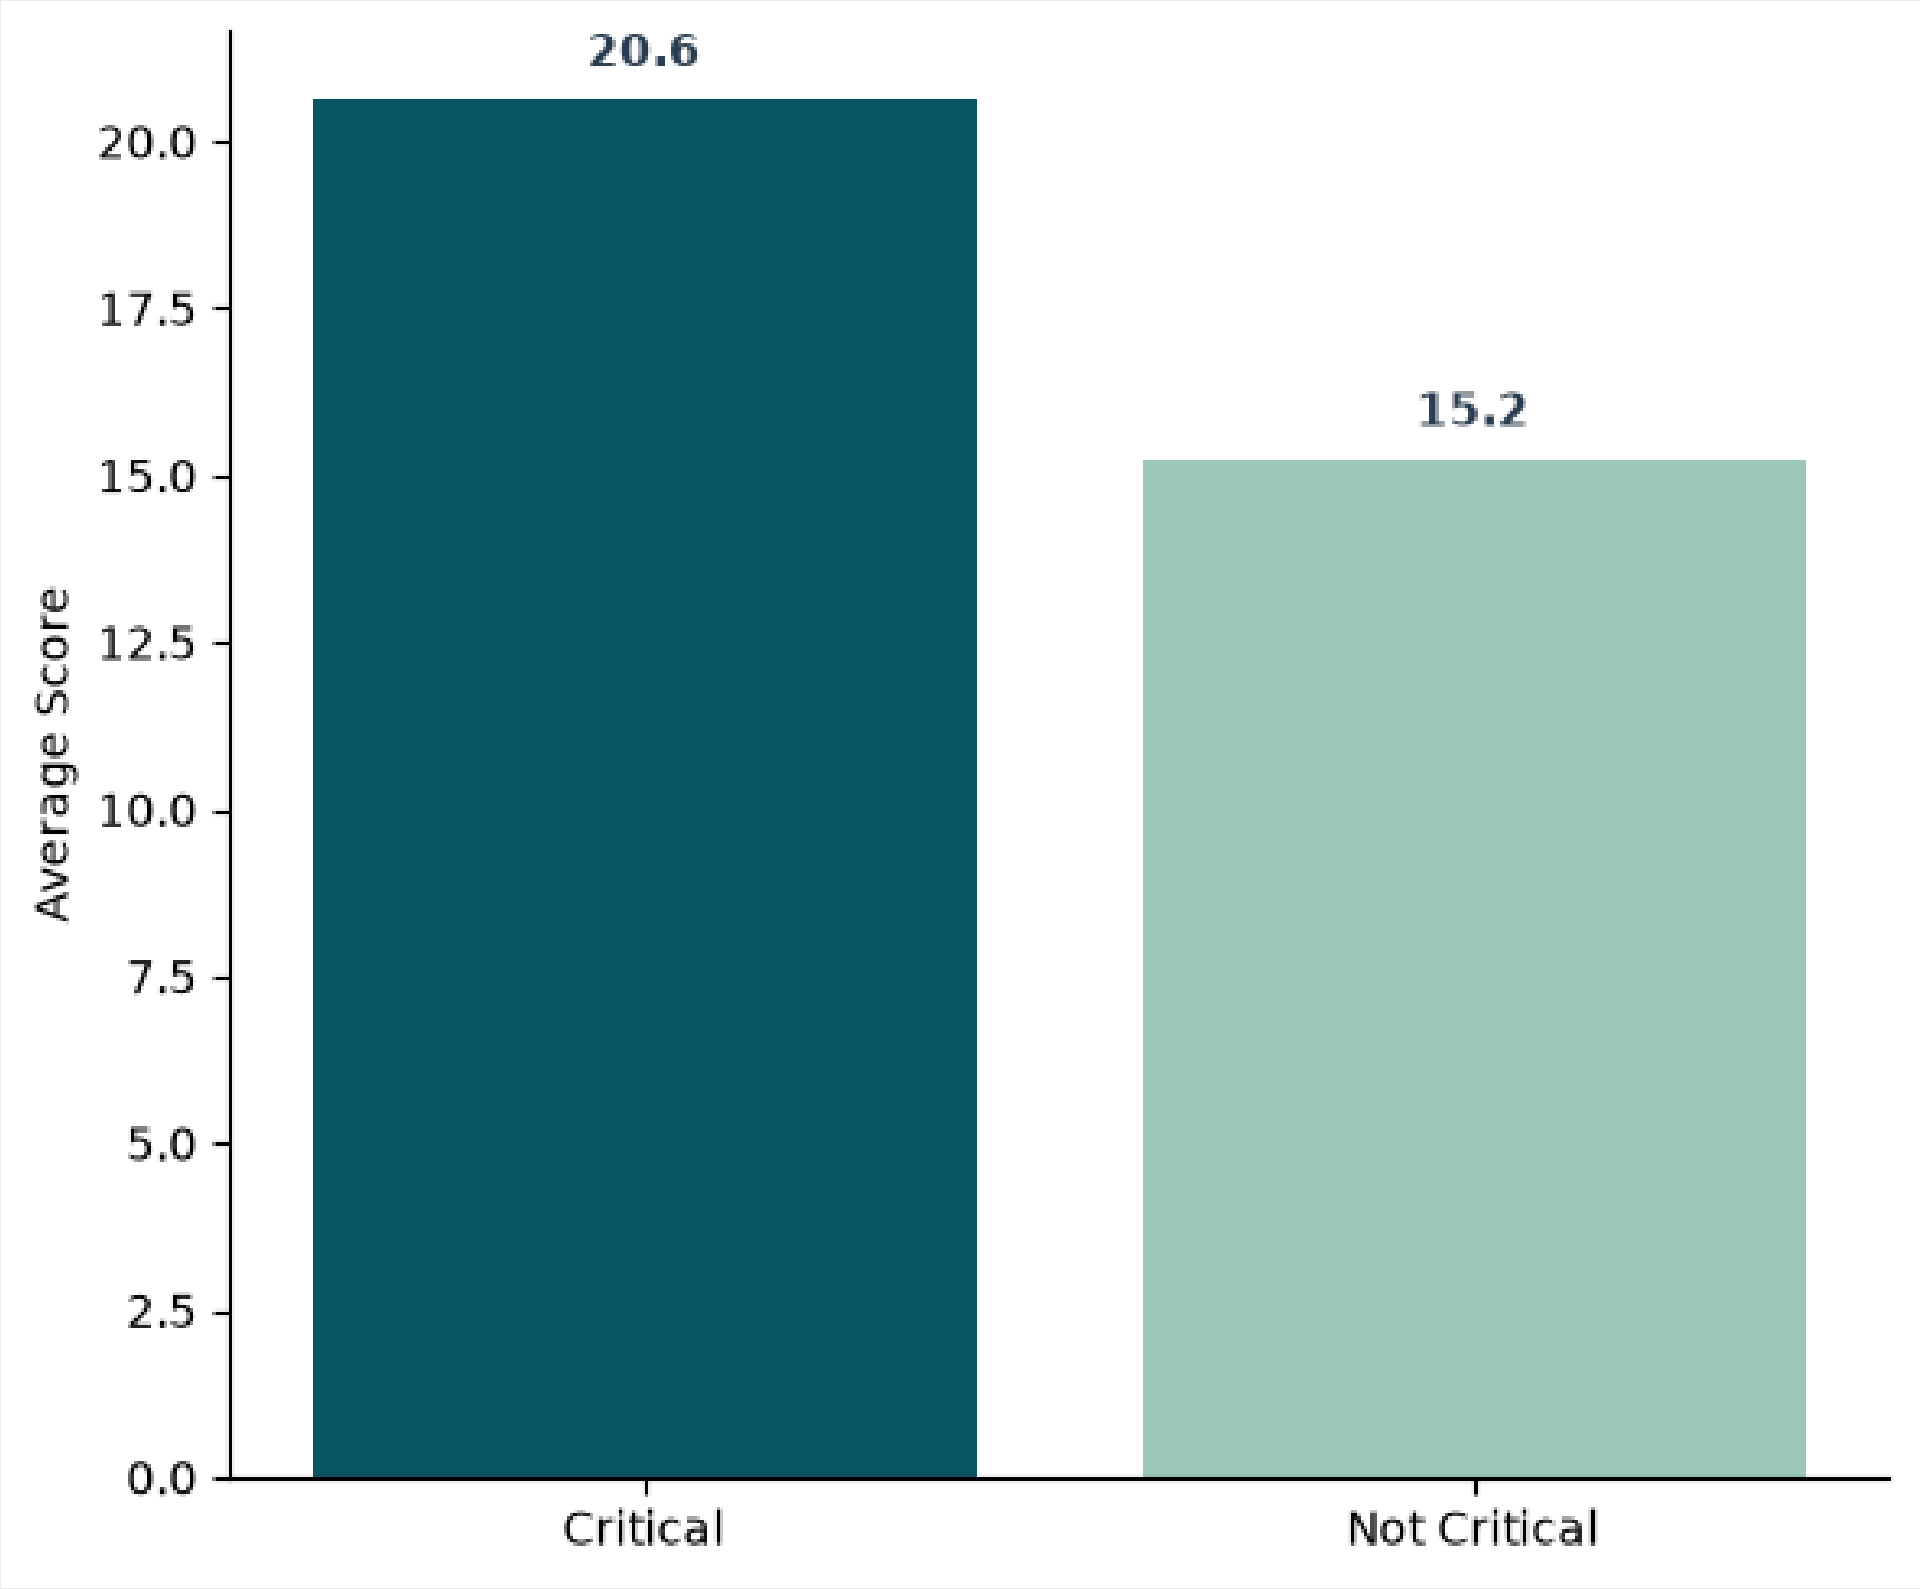

Code 10F — Non-Food
Contact Surfaces

Code 08A — Vermin & Pest
Prevention

Code 10B — Utensil &
Equipment Sanitization

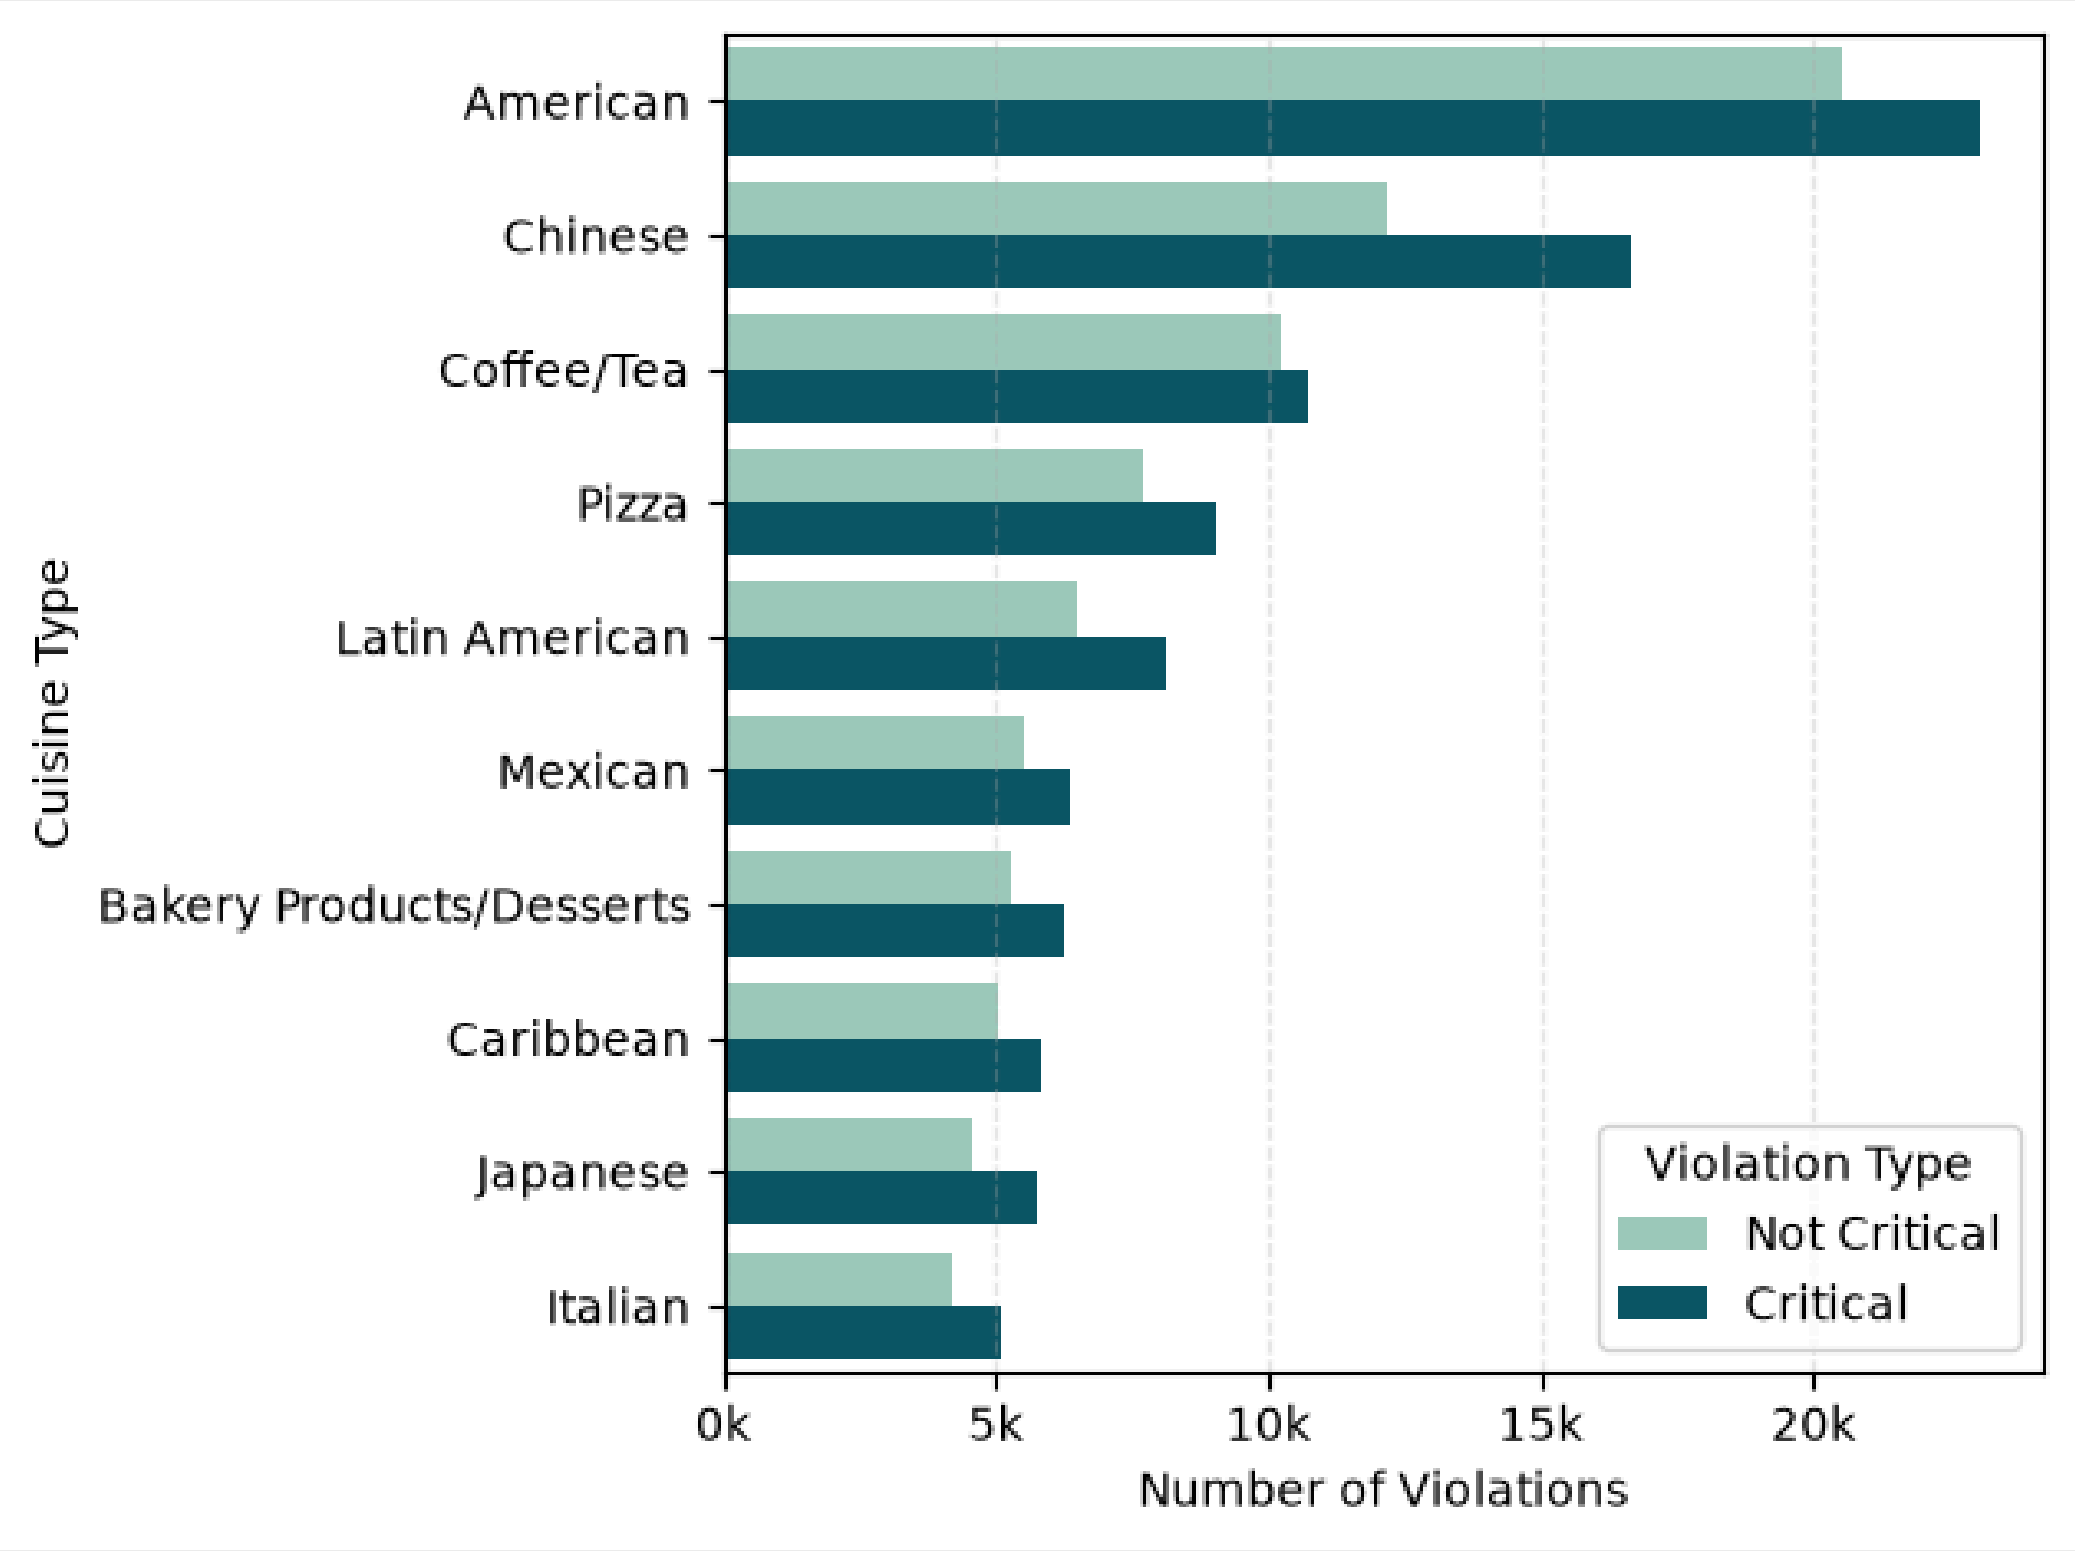

COMPARISON OF INSPECTION SCORES: CRITICAL VS. NON-CRITICAL

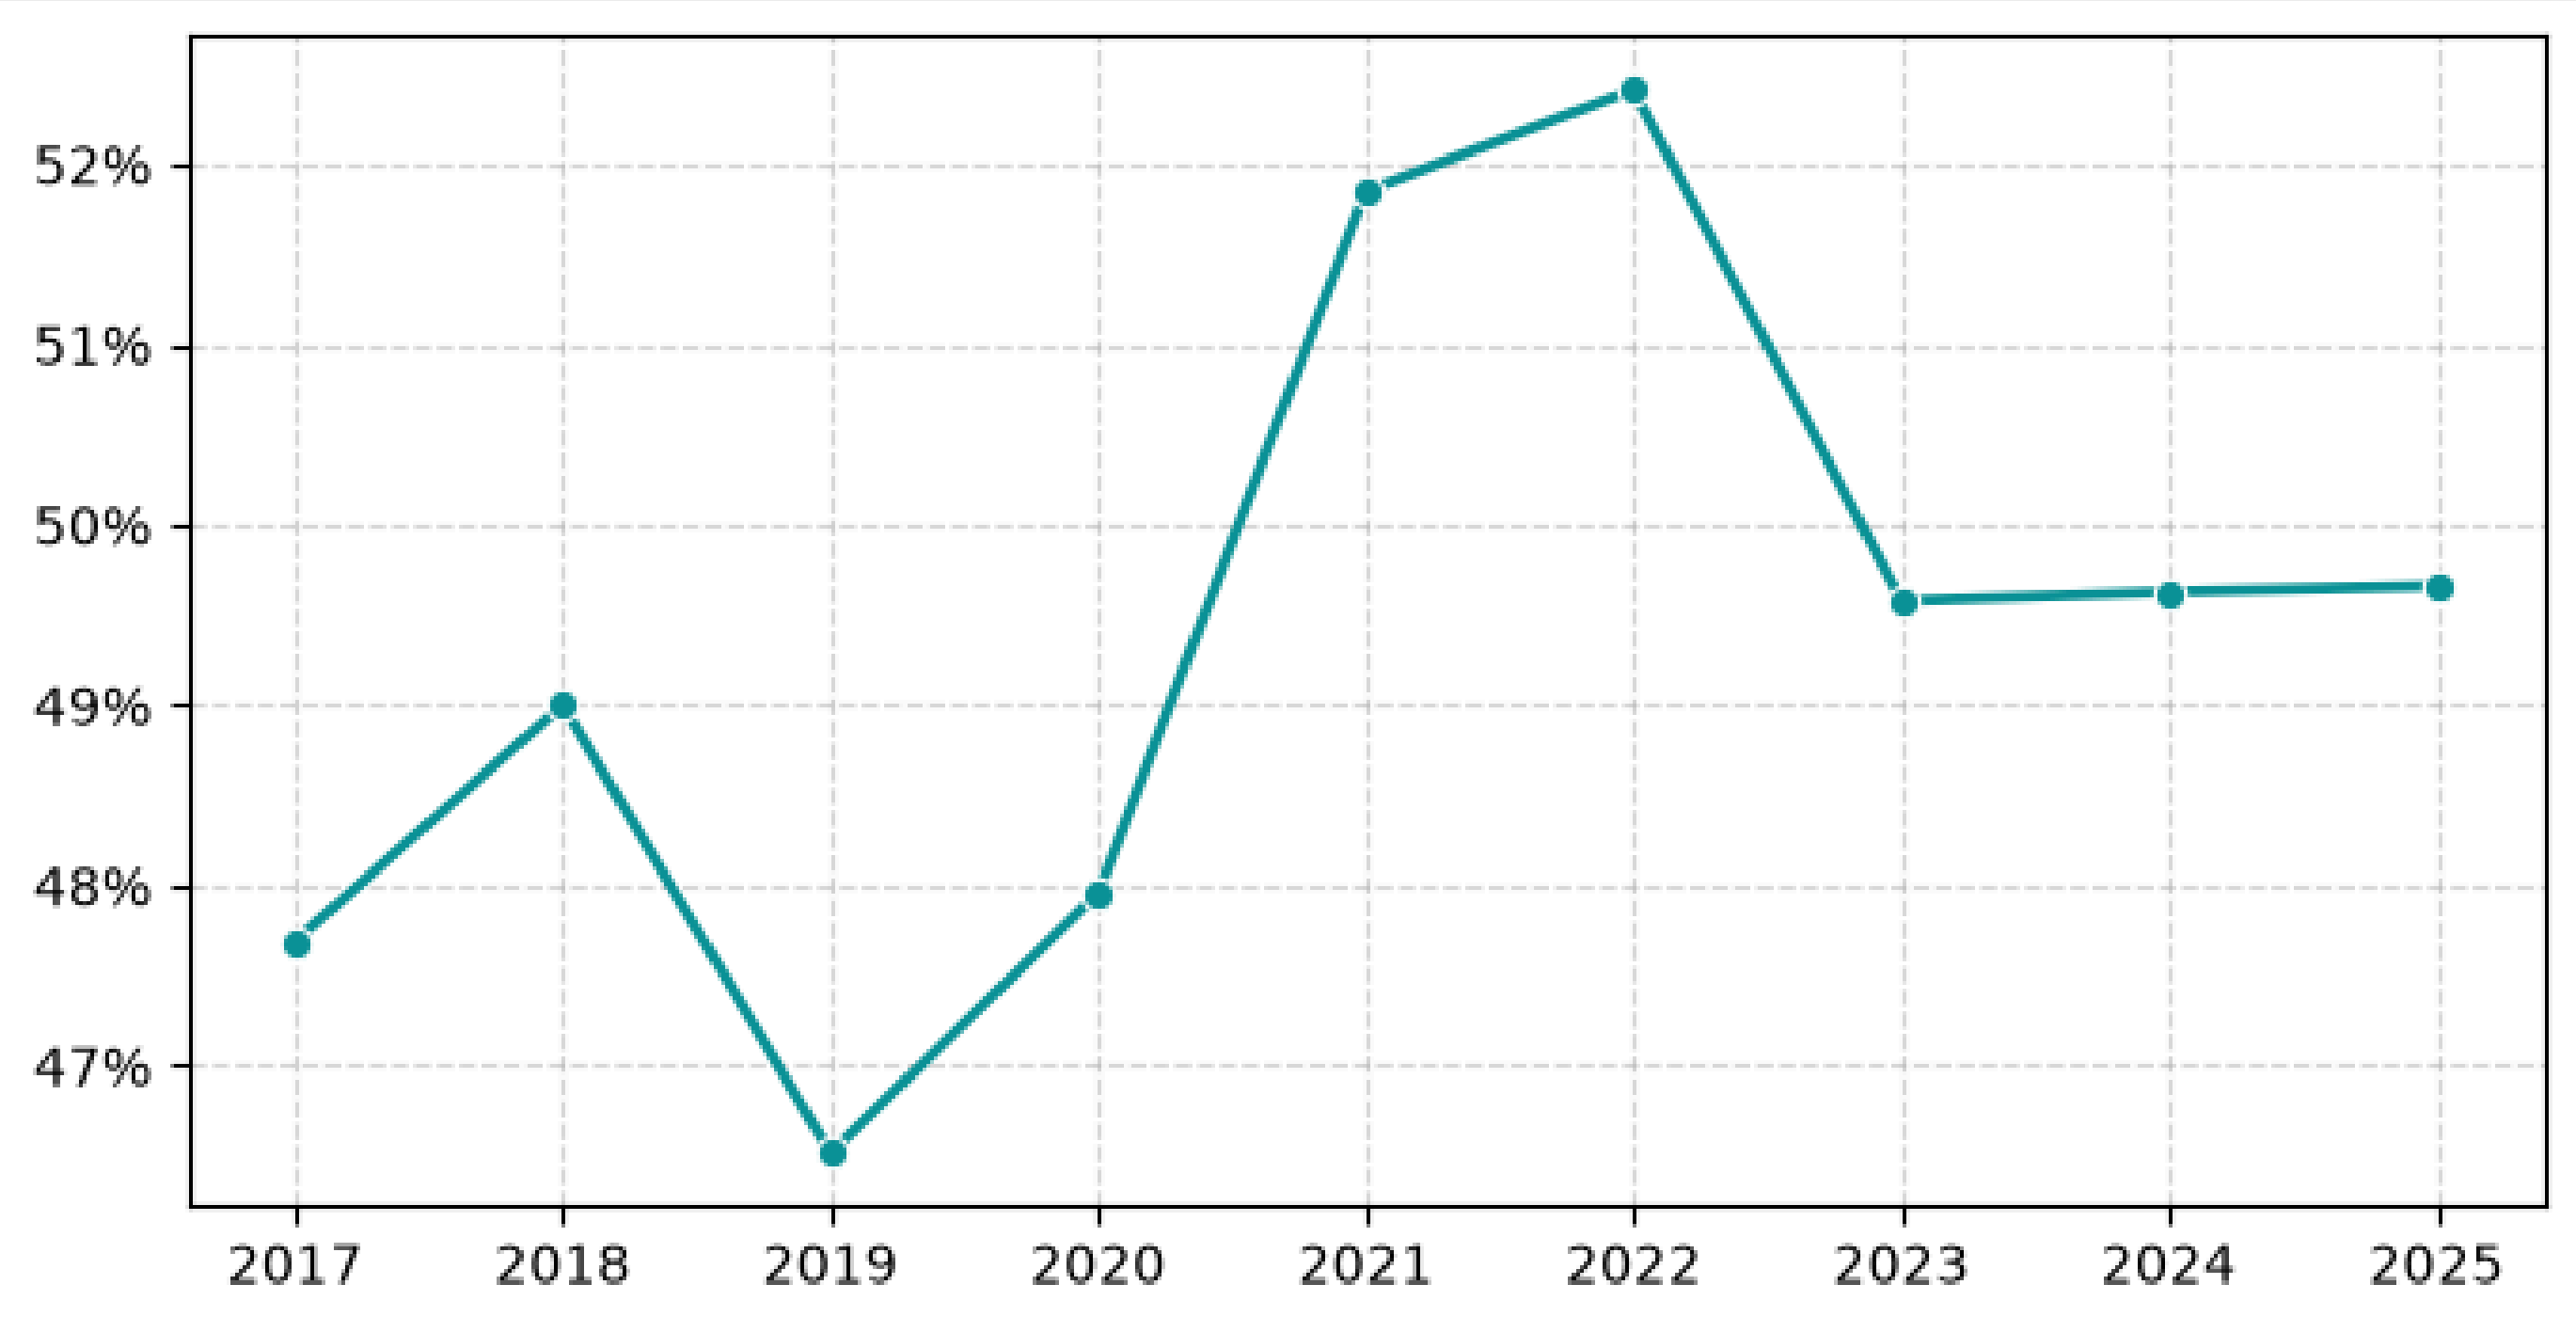

ANALYSIS OF CRITICAL VIOLATIONS BY BOROUGH

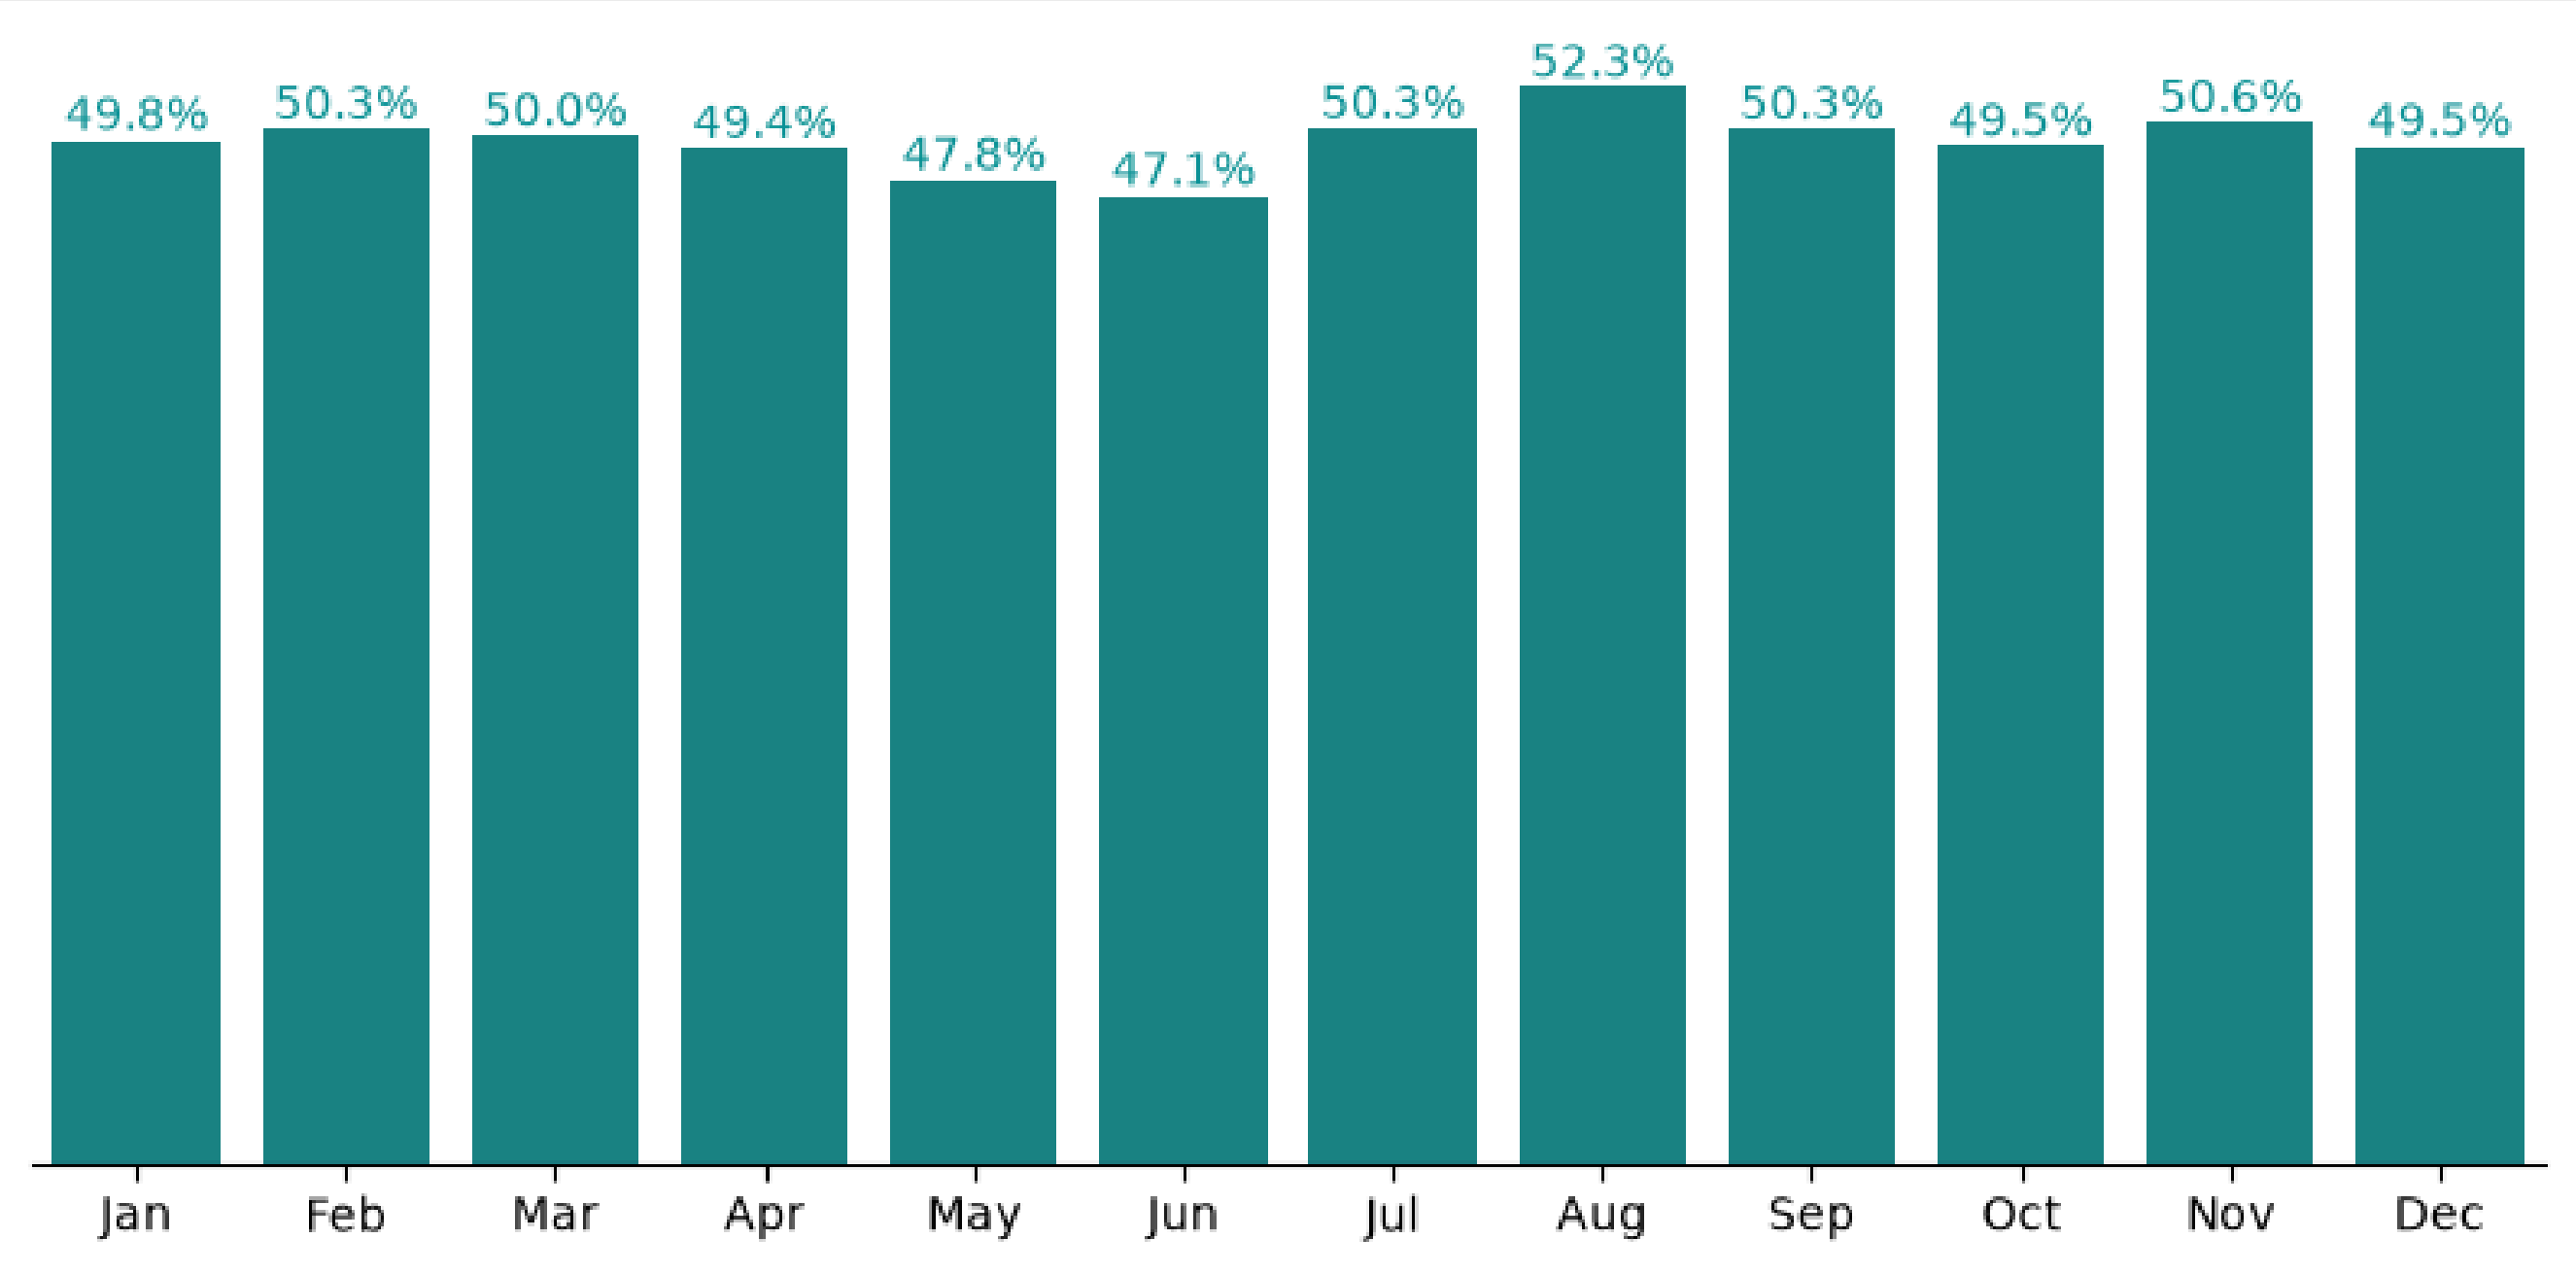

COMPARISON OF CRITICAL VS. NON-CRITICAL VIOLATIONS BY CUISINE

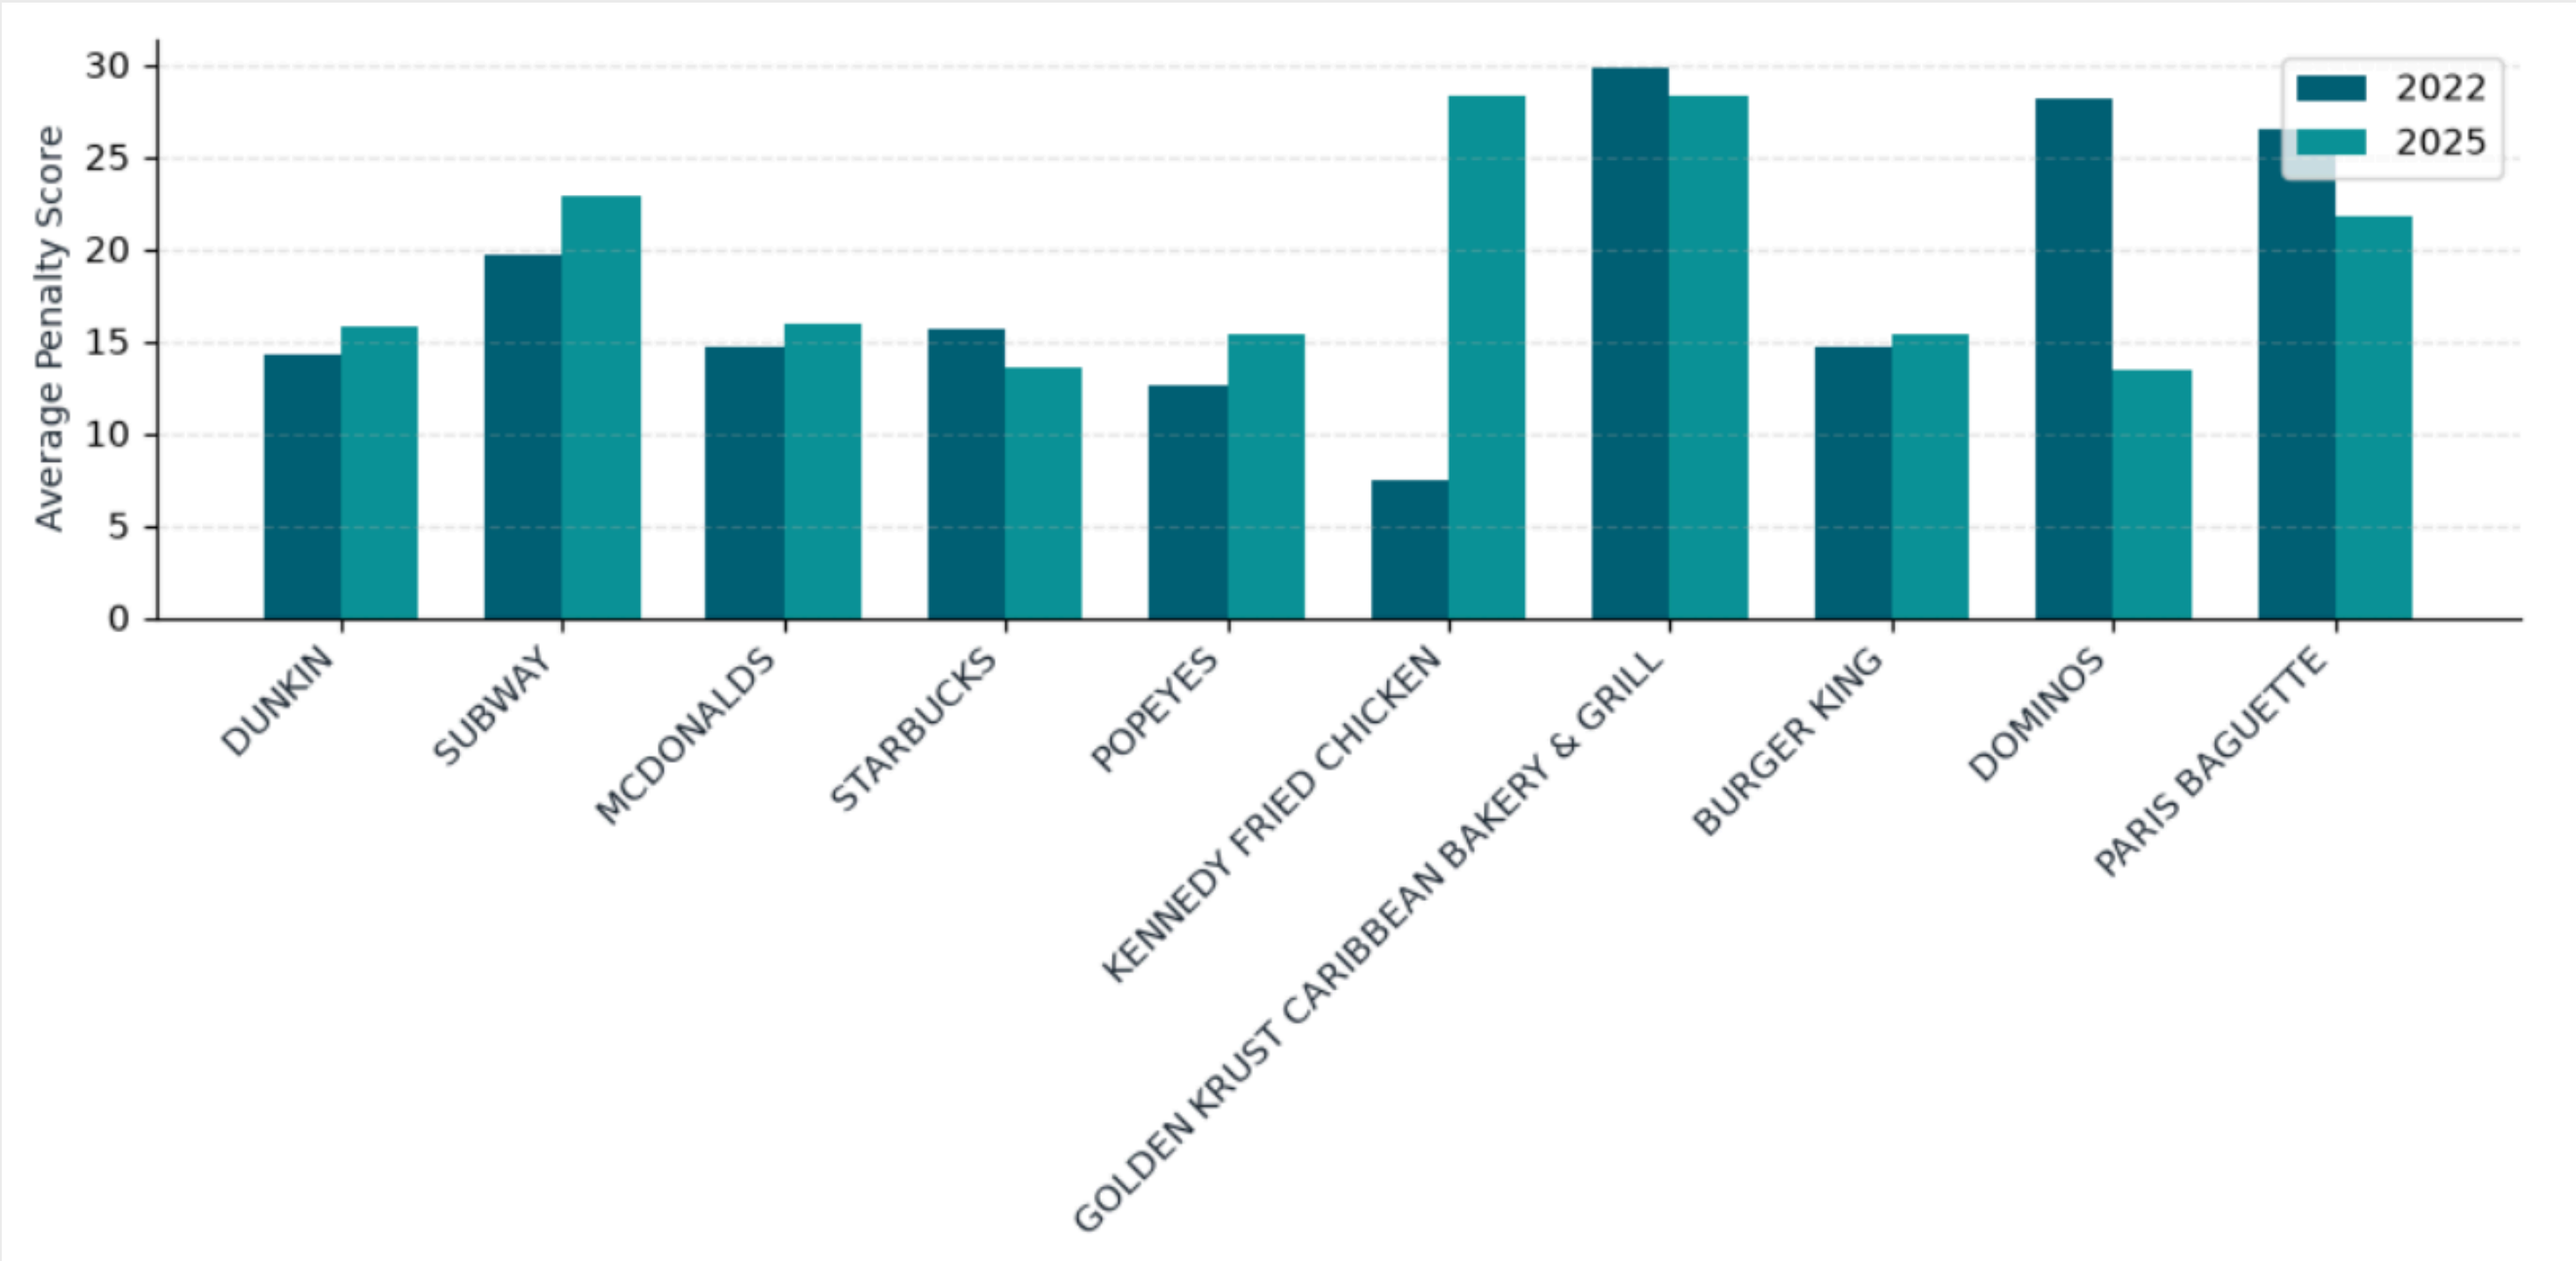

ANALYSIS OF CRITICAL VIOLATION TRENDS (2017 - 2025)

ANALYSIS OF CRITICAL VIOLATIONS ACROSS MONTHS

COMPARISON OF TOP 10 BRANDS: SCORE CHANGE (2022 - 2025) ●●●

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Focus on the top 3 violation types (10F, 08A, 10B)
- Treat this as a citywide problem
- Keep a closer eye on chains like Kennedy Fried Chicken and Golden Krust
- Figure out what changed around 2023

...

THANK YOU